2019 Idaho State Bar Annual Meeting CLE Session Information

Thursday, July 25 - CLE Session #1, 10:15 a.m. - 11:45 a.m.

Cybersecurity Vulnerabilities: You and Your Client, Room 420 - Lawyers have an ethical obligation to ensure communications are secure. Law firms possess a wealth of confidential and valuable information making them an ever-growing target of cyber-attacks. Understand what information the internet knows and how to control the vulnerabilities for your firm and your clients. Todd Sexton, Identillect Technologies.

Employee Non-Compete Agreements in Idaho, Room 410A - This program will provide a legislative backdrop for the enforcement of non-compete agreements and protection of intellectual property assets beyond non-competes. Kammie Cuneo, Anderson Schwartzman Woodard Dempsey; and Jennifer Dempsey, Anderson Schwartzman Woodard Dempsey.

Legal Research in the Digital Age, Room 410C - This program will take a look at the new trends in legal research, including analytics and cost effective digital research tools like Casemaker. Anna Blaine, University of Idaho College of Law; and Sam Williams, University of Idaho College of Law.

Thursday, July 25 - CLE Session #2, 1:30 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

A Statewide Look at Domestic Violence and How We Can Help, Room 410A - A discussion about domestic violence in Idaho, its effects on our communities and how attorneys can play an important role in helping reduce the statistics and providing resources. Rep. Melissa Wintrow, Idaho House of Representatives; and Annie Pelletier Hightower, Idaho Coalition Against Sexual and Domestic Violence.

Clearing Barriers to Military Legal Readiness, Room 420 - Idaho's Reserve Military Component population must be prepared at all times for immediate deployment. Personal legal affairs must be in order at all times since members who are not legally ready will reduce organizational operational readiness and unit morale. This program will arm attorneys with information so that attorneys can clear barriers to legal readiness. Major Stephen Stokes, Idaho National Guard; Justin Volle, Smith Horras PA; and T. Matthew Wolfe, Generations Law Group.

Tackling Implicit Bias: Personally, Professionally and in the Courtroom, Room 410C - This program will focus on implicit bias in our daily lives, in our professional lives and how Rules of Professional Conduct attempt to prevent our implicit bias from hindering advocacy, and implicit bias in the courtroom from the judge to the jury and how language barriers, cultural norms, etc. play a role. Associate Dean Latonia Keith, Concordia University School of Law; Debra Groberg, Nevin, Benjamin, McKay & Bartlett, LLP; and Julianne S. Hall, Elam & Burke.

Thursday, July 25 - CLE Session #3, 3:30 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Lessons from the Masters, Room 420 - This distinguished group of Idaho lawyers will showcase their exalted legal careers and commitment to public service along with best practices, tips for practitioners mixed in with memorable stories. Hon. Darla S. Williamson, Retired Fourth District Judge; J. Ford Elsaesser, Elsaesser Anderson, Chtd.; and Charles Homer, Holden, Kidwell, Hahn & Crapo, PLLC.

Friday, July 26 - CLE Session #4, 8:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m.

Can I Get This Tweet Admitted? Evidentiary Issues in the Digital Age, Room 420 - The popularity of social media and other digital media in society has resulted in an increase in issues involving the admissibility of their content in court. This panel will examine the challenges associated with the admission of digital evidence under current evidentiary rules, how some courts have tried to address those challenges, and practice tips for admitting or contesting the admission of digital evidence. Hon. Jennifer L.K. Haemmerle, Fifth Judicial District; Michael Bartlett, Nevin, Benjamin, McKay & Bartlett, LLP; and Justin Whatcott, Assistant U.S. Attorney, District of Idaho.

Emotional Intelligence and Lawyers: Opposites Really Do Attract!, Room 410C - In today's society, emotional intelligence counts just as much as, if not more than, a person's IQ. Emotional intelligence is the ability to identify and manage negative emotions, while using positive emotions to motivate constructive actions. For the attorney, strengthening your emotional intelligence can help you in the workplace, and make you more effective with clients, the court, and opposing counsel. Join the discussion on ways you can improve your emotional intelligence. Brian Kane, Idaho Attorney General's Office; and Cynthia Yee-Wallace, Idaho Attorney General's Office.

Potpourri from the Faculty, Room 410A - Join Professors John Rumel and Richard Seamon for two distinct discussions. Professor Rumel will cover the top 10 civil cases decided by the Idaho Supreme Court and Professor Seamon will tackle the question "Can President Trump really do that?" Prof. John Rumel, University of Idaho College of Law; and Prof. Richard Seamon, University of Idaho College of Law.

Friday, July 26 - CLE Session #5, 10:15 a.m. - 11:45 a.m.

An Overview of Criminal Defense Reform in Idaho, Room 410C - Idaho has a long tradition of supporting public defense and protecting the Constitutional rights of the criminally accused. Now, almost 100 years after the Idaho Supreme Court held that counsel must be assigned at public expense to indigent persons accused of crimes, where do we stand and what is next in criminal defense reform? Darrell Bolz, Idaho Public Defense Commission; and Kathleen Elliott, Idaho Public Defense Commission.

A View from the Appellate Bench in Idaho, Room 420 - A discussion of practice tips and observations from a few of Idaho's newest and distinguished appellate court members. Hon. G. Richard Bevan, Idaho Supreme Court; Hon. Gregory W. Moeller, Idaho Supreme Court; and Hon. Jessica M. Lorello, Idaho Court of Appeals.

Health Care Laws Every Transactional Attorney and Litigator Ought to Know, Room 410A - Attorneys representing clients in the healthcare industry need to be aware of relevant federal and state laws. Failure to do so may expose the lawyer or their clients to significant fines and penalties. A discussion surrounding the federal Stark, Anti-Kickback Statutes and Civil Monetary Penalties Laws will take place along with an overview of HIPAA privacy and security law matters involving health information. Kim Stanger, Holland and Hart, LLP.

Friday, July 26 - CLE Session #6, 1:15 p.m. - 3:15 p.m.

Technology and a New Generation: How Progress Affects Professional Responsibility, Room 420 - Technological advances, including social media, and generation shifts in the workforce of the legal profession have brought changes and challenges. These shifts impact areas of professional identity, ethics and the professional rules of conduct. This program will offer potential solutions and ways to address them. Prof. Brenda Bauges, Concordia University School of Law; and Prof. Summer Chandler, Concordia University School of Law.
