Deborah McCormick – A defender who champions the rule of law

Deborah McCormick served three terms as president of the Second District Bar Association and also served as a representative to the State Pro Bono Commission and serves on her local pro bono committee. She helped organize the Citizens' Law Academy and previously served on the Palouse Ice Rink Board of Directors.

At nearby University of Idaho College of Law, Deb has judged mediation competition, mentored new law students and volunteered to grade bar exams.

In her criminal defense practice, Deb is able to help with what she calls are the social work aspects. "In addition to providing good legal counsel, my goal is for each of my clients to know that someone does care about what happens to them," she said after winning a Service Award in 2014.

Deb works at McCormick Law Office in Moscow.

The Idaho State Bar is beginning a campaign to raise general awareness of the good deeds and admirable qualities of Idaho attorneys. For more information, or to share your community service story, contact ISB Communications Director Dan Black at dblack@isb.idaho.gov
