

July 1, 2016

Kelsey Nunez – Working for Sustainable and Healthy Living

With a vision to increase understanding about sustainable agriculture, Kelsey Nunez has contributed her time and sweat to green living and urban agriculture. She gives up to 10 hours a month to the Boise EcoVillage Project and the Women and Children's Alliance, which are two of her favorite groups.

Specifically, the EcoVillage aspires to build a sustainable, intentional green community, while providing a healthy classroom for college biology classes to learn about organics and other topics. Recently the group received a grant to develop a (pesticide-free) fruit tree forest.

Recently, the organization teamed up with local farmers and has leased ground to again plant vegetables for its Community Sustainable Agriculture subscription program. You can learn more about the project at: <http://boiseecovillageproject.com/>

Ms. Nunez is a member of the Business and Corporate Law Section, the Environment & Natural Resources Section and the Young Lawyers Section.

The Idaho State Bar is engaged a campaign to raise general awareness of the good deeds and admirable qualities of Idaho attorneys. For more information, or to share your community service story, contact ISB Communications Director Dan Black at dblack@isb.idaho.gov

IDAHO STATE BAR