

Idaho State Bar Diversity Section “Justice for All” Award 2015
– Nominations Due June 19th!

The Idaho State Bar Diversity Section annually recognizes a lawyer, a member of the judiciary or a citizen connected with advancing the causes of people of color, women, religious or ethnic minorities, those of marginalized social groups, and the poor in Idaho’s justice system. Those who have been honored in the past are the Honorable Candy Dale, Chief Magistrate Judge of the U.S. District Court for the District of Idaho; Ernesto Sanchez, retired director of Idaho Legal Aid; Leslie Goddard, retired counsel and director of the Idaho Human Rights Commission; Nicole LeFavour, Idaho’s first openly gay state legislator and civil rights activist; and Linda Pall, Idaho civil rights lawyer who has been recognized for her advocacy of human rights throughout the northwest as a recipient of the Rosa Parks Award in Latah County, the Sheikh Community Unity Award in Moscow and the Lassman Stand Against Hate Award from Gonzaga University in Spokane, WA.

The Diversity Section intends to present the 2015 “Justice for All” Award in Sun Valley at the Idaho State Bar Annual Meeting. You are cordially invited to nominate someone who has played a long-term, deep commitment to civil and human rights. Please send your letter of nomination for the 2015 “Justice for All” Award by 5:00 p.m., June 19, 2015 to Mahmood Sheikh, ISB Deputy Executive Director.

Thank you for your help in identifying a distinguished supporter of civil and human rights from the ranks of lawyers, judges and citizens of Idaho for this important recognition. We hope you will plan to join us for the presentation of the Award at the ISB Annual Meeting – additional details will follow!
