REASONABLE TESTING ACCOMMODATIONS

Form C and accompanying documentation must be submitted with a completed Form A to the Idaho State Bar.

This form must be completed by a licensed psychologist or neuropsychologist with specialized expertise in the assessment of learning disabilities and is to be used for verification in the following areas:

- 1. Learning Disabilities, including problems with reading or other specific skills
- 2. Cognitive problems related to history of illness or injury

The Idaho State Bar requires that an applicant with a specific learning disability must have been identified by a psycho-educational assessment process that includes data from both cognitive and achievement measures listed below. Test results should: (1) Have been administered within the last three years; (2) Identify normative academic skills deficits(s); (3) Identify normative information processing deficits(s); and (4) Certify that the applicant's intellectual ability is within the normal range of functioning or higher. The diagnostic report must include copies of the evaluation and a thorough battery of age-appropriate psychological tests and test scores administered within the last three years from the date the application for reasonable testing accommodations is filed. The test scores obtained and the interpretations of these scores must provide evidence of the current impairment and establish a rationale that supports the need for specific accommodations.
